

What People Say About John Potter

John Potter is one of the UK's leading experts on leadership and organizational culture change. He is also a highly informative speaker who both entertains and educates his audiences. I have no hesitation in recommending him as a highly effective speaker whether it be for a business breakfast, corporate conference or seminar or after dinner speech.

Roger Cawse, Chief Executive, Exeter Friendly Society, UK

On several occasions I've heard John speak and he is always extremely effective and impressive as a speaker. He combines a wide knowledge of leadership theory with innovative views of his own which always make him interesting to listen to.

John Adair - writer, speaker and the UK's leading expert on leadership

John Potter bridges the gap between the academic world and that of the business organization. He is a very effective speaker who both educates and entertains. Sir Geoffrey Holland, Former Permanent Secretary, Department of Education & Employment John Potter brings vast experience and many years of thought leadership to understanding the context and expectations of contemporary leadership. Everything John Potter has to say is worth listening to at least twice.

Warren Bennis, University of Southern California